Believed That All Of McGillivray's Strength
Will Be Thrown Into His Camp.

MANY TRICKS BEING TRIED OUT

Lenroot People Would Identify Davidson With The Conservative Element If They Could Accomplish It.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., July 31.—Friends of Governor James O. Davidson claim distinct advantage in the race for the Wisconsin gubernatorial nomination because of the withdrawal of Senator J. J. McGillivray of Chippewa Falls, the first candidate to enter the field. The claim of advantage is not based merely on the fact that Senator McGillivray stated his preference for Governor Davidson in his letter of withdrawal, but on the fact that his strength was practically entirely such as would go to the present governor rather than to Speaker I. L. Lenroot, the candidate of Senator La Follette.

All for Davidson
It is agreed that none of the McGillivray supporters would go to Lenroot, but the only disputed question is to the number of voters who favored McGillivray. The Davidson people claim that the Black River Falls candidate had a large following in his own neighborhood and scattered all over the state, but the Lenroot camp smiles and says McGillivray did not have a corporal's guard of followers and that this was the fact that he himself recognized and it was the reason for his failure to remain as a candidate.

Useless Fight
It is apparent that the fight of the Lenroot people is being directed toward identifying Governor Davidson

MICHIGAN READY TO FIGHT ON POLITICS

Republicans of the Wolverine State
Are in Session in Detroit This Afternoon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Detroit, July 31.—With the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor nominated at the primaries several weeks ago, the republican state convention met here today to select candidates for office on the ticket below: Lieutenant governor and to adopt a platform. Congressman Fordney, Saginaw, was the temporary chairman.

with the stalwart faction, and the Davidson campaign is strenuously resisting this kind of attack, but they are taking care not to offend the stalwart voters who are plainly inclined toward Davidson as against Lenroot.

One Boomerang
A few days ago it came from the Lenroot camp that Governor Davidson was preparing a schedule showing how many weeks of Governor La Follette's last term he was absent from the state, most of the time making Chautauqua addresses at $500 per. but Governor Davidson promptly nailed this report as false and declared that he never disagreed with Senator La Follette on any principle and had no reason to complain that the former executive neglected the duties of state.

Just an Example

This is one incident of the efforts of the La Follette-Lenroot campaign committee to place upon Governor Davidson the brand of stalwart. This week will see the end of one period of the campaign. Saturday is the last day on which preliminary nominating petitions can be filed so as to get the names of candidates for nomination on the primary election ticket. After that will come a month of campaigning for the various candidates, during which time the lines will be drawn on each as to divide the candidates for state nomination into states headed by Lenroot and Davidson.

THE STATISTICS OF THE SUMMER SCHOOL

Professors From Thirteen Universities and Colleges Enrolled, Beside Normal Graduates and Teachers.

Madison, Wis., July 31.—Statistics of attendance at the University of Wisconsin summer session just compiled show a remarkable increase in the number of graduate students availing themselves of the various courses of study. The total enrollment is 555, including men and women from 36 different states and foreign countries and professors from 13 universities and colleges. Many of these have obtained their doctorate or other high degrees.

Students From Abroad

Geographically the representation in the student body is a wide one. The Argentine Republic, Canada, Japan, and the Philippines are all represented, and in this country thirty-two states have sent men and women, most of whom are taking advanced work. Naturally Wisconsin stands first, with 393 students. Illinois is second with 44; Ohio has 18; Iowa, 11; Missouri, 10; Indiana, 7; Kansas and Nebraska, 6 each; Michigan, Minnesota and Pennsylvania, 5 each. New York, 4; Kentucky, Texas and Montana, 3 each; Georgia, Alabama, New Hampshire, Maryland, New Mexico and Mississippi, 2 each; and one each from New Jersey, Oregon, Colorado, Washington, Utah, North Dakota, North Carolina, South Carolina, Arkansas and Massachusetts.

Twenty Professors Enrolled

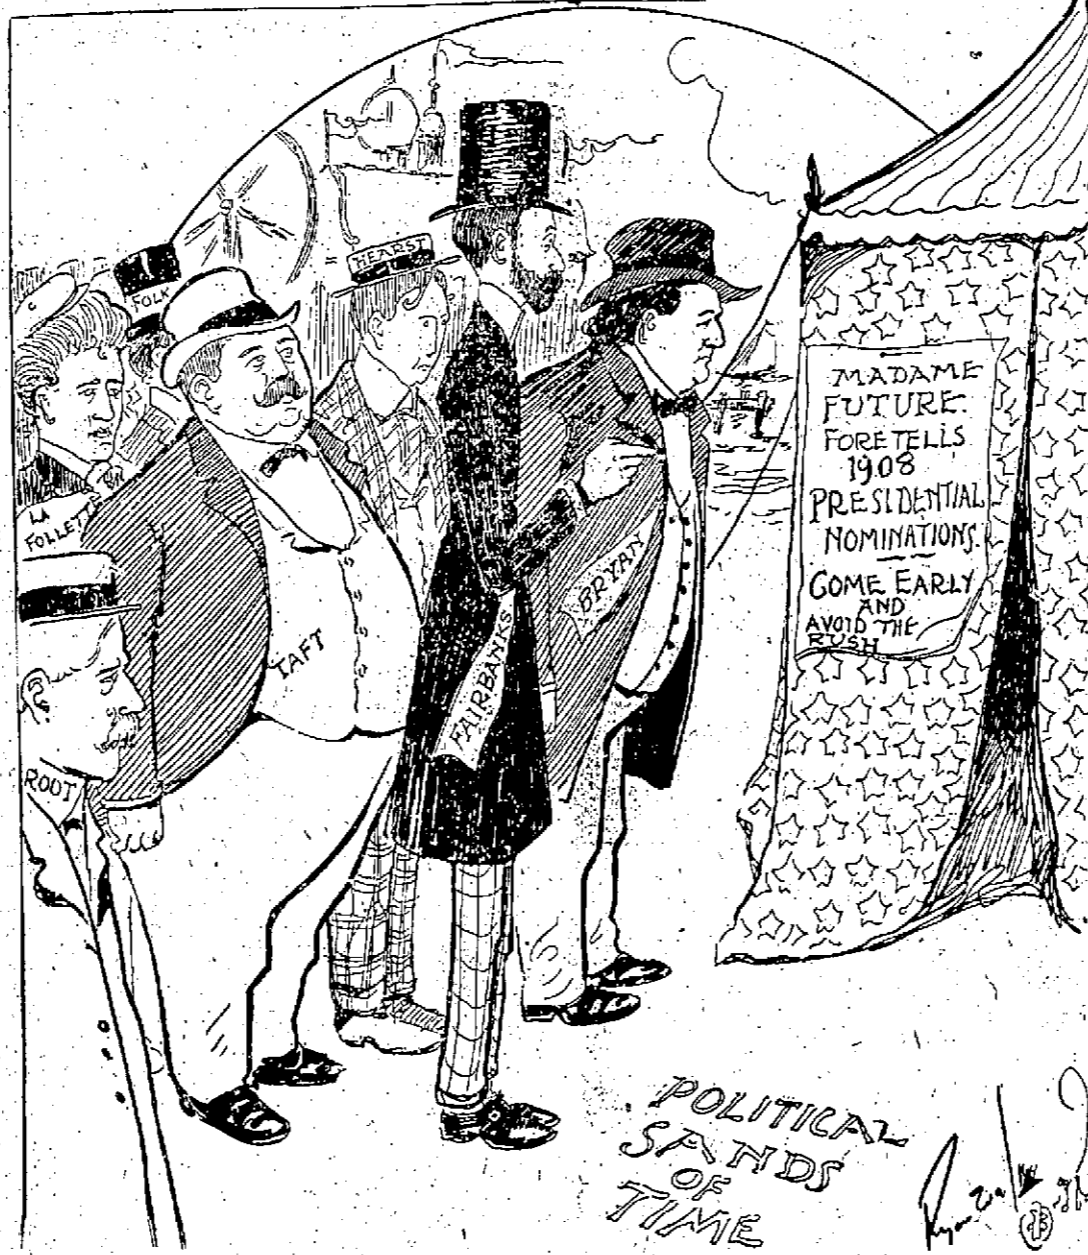

The 250 teachers enrolled include 20 university and college professors from 13 different universities and colleges. They are members of the faculties of Columbia university; the state universities of Missouri, Oregon, Wisconsin and Texas; the University of Chicago; Dartmouth; Wilson college, Pa.; Alabama Polytechnic Institute; Mount Morris college; Mississippi Indian college; Greenville college, Ill.; and Carroll college. The highest degree, that of doctor of philosophy, has been granted many of these, while others have the degrees of master of arts, master of laws, bachelor of philosophy, bachelor of laws, bachelor of science, bachelor of arts, or civil engineer.

Many College Graduates

In the enrollment are 147 who have already received university or college diplomas, and are taking advanced work. There are 202 more who have not yet completed their college course, and are either shortening their years of study by gaining extra university credits during the summer vacation, or, in the case of a few, are making up deficiencies of past work. The graduates of normal schools number 111, and the teachers of high schools, academies and grades are 230. The preparatory department has 72 students.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Des Moines, Ia., July 31.—Interest in tomorrow's republican state convention is still centered on the state central committee, which is hearing the contests filed by the friends of George D. Perkins, a candidate for governor, against A. B. Cummins, who seeks renomination. The committee will not, perhaps, reach any conclusion before tonight or tomorrow morning. The majority are said to be opposed to taking any action which might possibly result in two state tickets.

Sheriff to Make a Formal Request For State Troops to Gov. Davidson
Today.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 31.—A formal request that Gov. Davidson send troops to capture John F. Dietz, the "outlaw" of Cameron Dam, who for two years has defied state authority, will be made by Sheriff Gylland at Madison today.

Arthur J. Mofft, the chief deputy, who assisted Gylland in the three attempts to take Dietz, tonight received word from Gylland asking him to meet with the state officials today. In view of the interviews which Gov. Davidson has given out that Dietz ended it is believed that a company or two of the state troops will be ordered out.

In that event there seems to be little doubt that Dietz will have to be shot before he can be captured, for he said time and again that he will fight to the bitter end.

LECTURE ON LAW, LOVE AND HABIT

SYLVESTER A. LONG'S, "LIGHTNING AND TOOTHPICKS."

FAREWELL OF GLEE CLUB
Concert Last Evening at Chautauqua
Notes of Little Happenings

With a full concert last evening the Chicago Glee club bade farewell to Janesville. The program was of the usual high order and each member was so enthusiastically applauded that encores were frequent. Mr. Dixon's rends were delightful, and well received. At the close of the entertainment hundreds accepted the invitation of Stage Manager Flude to

When the Little Ones Say Good Night
Mr. Turner and Glee Club
Sylvester A. Long

By his lecture "Lightning and Toothpicks" Sylvester A. Long pleased another audience at the Chautauqua yesterday afternoon. His text was introduced with characteristic ingenuity. In the English language there are three great words which hold all the joy and sorrow, hope and despair, majesty of manhood and beauty of womanhood, possibility of good and certainty of evil. They are law, love and habit. The universal reign of law is made beautiful by love and real by habit. Laws govern everything; nothing happens by chance. There is no such thing as luck or accident and success and failure are matters of law. Our money earning power is measured by our ability to furnish what the world wants and success goes to those who work in harmony with the law of demand and failure to those who buck the law. But the reign of law is softened, mellowed and made beautiful by love. Love is the key to the largest manhood and most beautiful womanhood and to live without love is to fail in life. We are not independent. The most dangerous people in society are the eight and ten dollar kind who ask no favors and grant none. When others do you good it is crime not to tell them of it. We cannot pay our obligations to the world in dollars and cents and we are missing the largest things in the world by our cold indifference. It is our duty to make ourselves expression of love. Habit is both beautiful and terrible. Man is not intended to be his own master. Habit prepares us for the working out of all laws. We get the habit of finding trouble and we are continually looking for it. We get the habit of indefinite thinking and we never reach anywhere but we acquire the habit of hard thinking and get thought, power. There is the habit of untruthfulness, the habit of unreasoning devotion to work and the habit of self confidence. To boast of our strength where none is needed is rank egotism but to trust one self in the accomplishment of some end is self trust.

Chautauquaettes.
Freeport has decided to have a Chautauqua next season despite the fact that this year the weather did not permit a good healthy success from a financial standpoint. Mr. Holbrook will manage the assembly. Stage Manager Alfred L. Flude is conducting a lost and found bureau, caring for articles of wearing apparel, fans, etc., and returning them to those who call and furnish evidence of their ownership.

There is little doubt but that the people of Janesville realize that this Chautauqua is their's, not the talents, the management or the association's. However, they can furnish visible proof of this conviction in a pretty way. The stage could be decorated and flowers each day would add much to the appearance of the platform. Some bouquets have graced the speaker's table but the reports Mr. Flude brings from Sandwich, Ill. are by no means equalled here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holbrook arrived from Oak Park last evening. Mrs. Holbrook will remain with her husband during the rest of the program.

Miss Mable Taylor of Orfordville, who travels as a reader under the management of one of the Chicago Lyceum bureaus, is among the campers at the grounds.

The Chicago Glee club went to Joliet, Ill. this morning for a concert tonight and from there will continue to Glenwood, Iowa, where they have another Chautauqua engagement. A. H. Lewis, A. L. Flude, C. H. Dixon, J. W. Turner, R. F. Thomas, and G. T. Henry enjoyed a launch trip up the river yesterday morning.

Women's hats are becoming less popular on the grounds. The Chautauqua rule of "hats off to the tent" worked to a hardship on some and the result is a sensible style.

The restaurant and refreshment booths are enjoying good patronage. Many people remain on the grounds the entire day while a still larger number stay for two sessions, getting one meal at the Assembly.

Combs in Her Hair Caught Fire and She Suffered Much Pain.

Milton, July 31.—The fire department was called out Friday forenoon at 11:30 to the house of C. H. Goodrich, where a burning oil stove had ignited the wall of the dwelling. Mrs. Goodrich's face and hands were burned and her hair singed, but the burns were most serious on her head as the result of the celluloid combs taking fire which she wore in her hair.

TOBACCO PRICES SOARING TODAY

WISCONSIN PRODUCT SELLING AT RECORD FIGURES.

SCARCITY IS THE CAUSE

The Tobacco Trust Has Been Early in the Field With Buyers, Aiding in Boosting of Prices.

Wisconsin tobacco this year will reach the highest price every offered in the history of the industry in this state, say local traders who deal in the Wisconsin product. At the present time prices ranging from 15 to 16 cents a pound in the field are offered, with the probability that the price will be higher.

Scarcity of the tobacco crop in all the tobacco producing centers of both the United States and of Cuba has caused the exceedingly high prices. The Wisconsin crop is said to be in fine shape.

Highest Prices in History.
Wisconsin tobacco is used almost exclusively for cigars and consumers of the fragrant weed may look for an advance in the price of their luxuries, according to a dealer who deals in Wisconsin tobacco to a considerable extent.

Wisconsin tobacco will bring the highest price in the history of the industry," he said. "Buyers are now offering from 15 to 16 cents a pound for the crop in the field. This is an increase of from 2 to 3 cents over last year's prices."

Scarcity of the crop is attributable to the advance in prices. Rock county is one of the most important centers of the tobacco growing industry of Wisconsin. Rock, Dale and Vernon counties are the principal tobacco centers of this state.

Trust Early in the Field.
"Because of the scarcity of the crop the tobacco trust has been early in the field for the output, and this fact has contributed to the advance in prices. We shall deal but little in Wisconsin tobacco this year because of the high price. The majority of our tobacco will be secured from Connecticut, where 20 cents is paid for the crop. This price seems high and it is high, but not so very much when the quality of the Connecticut product with that of Wisconsin is considered."

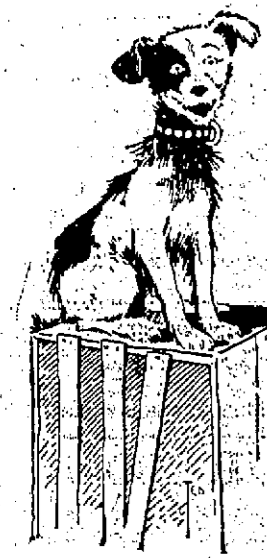

The average yield of tobacco in Wisconsin is 42,000,000 pounds, which is worth over $5,000,000. The increase in the price of Wisconsin tobacco is about 5 cents a pound since 1888. At that time Wisconsin tobacco was offered for 10 cents a pound.

Quality Improved.
He also admits that the price of Wisconsin tobacco this year will exceed all records. He has not deal in Wisconsin products for two years. Their trade demands the Connecticut product. The quality of Wisconsin tobacco is getting better and that this fact is causing an increased demand.

"Most of the Wisconsin tobacco has been consumed in the east, but of late years western smokers are beginning to appreciate the western product, and the demand for it is increasing," he said. "The Wisconsin crop is in good condition, but the yield will be small."

A LIFE STORY IN THE CLASSIFIED ADS

Of course the boy grew, as all healthy boys do. He broadened in mind, and bodily, too. The playthings of babyhood he put away. He wanted a puppy, a comrade in play.

The nurse told Papa and Papa quickly said: 'I'll put in an ad where 'twill surely be read. There's only one Want Ad newspaper for me. It's the Gazette, of course, as the public agree.

"Wanted a Puppy," so read the small ad. Soon the heart of the baby was happy and glad. A puppy was purchased; from the Want Ad he came.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, July 31, 1866—The Methodists of Evansville, in this county, under the leadership of the energetic pastor and able preacher, Rev. G. W. Delamater, are erecting a new brick church, 40 by 60 with basement.

Damage by Hail at Lima.—On Sunday last there was quite a severe hail storm at Lima in this county, which did considerable damage to the crop. It seemed to prevail over a comparatively small tract.

A Pony.—Mr. A. M. Case, who resides in the Fourth Ward, lost a very valuable colt on Sunday in the following curious way. The mare was hitched in the stable by a halter in the usual way, and the colt being loose, was playing about her head it is supposed, when his own head became entangled in the halter, and in a while after he was found suspended by the neck quite dead. He was valued, though but eleven weeks old, at $100. Mr. Case having but a short time before refused $75 for him. He was the favorite of all who knew him. We hope suicide is not to be epidemic among the equine race.

Shooting General Hamilton.—Mr. R. A. Baker has been bound over in the sum of $5,000 to appear and answer at the next term of the circuit court for the shooting of General Hamilton, on the charge of shooting General Hamilton.

TWO DIE IN BOILER BLAST

FATAL EXPLOSION OF VINCENNES IND., PAPER MILL.

Disaster is Mysterious—Old Harrison Mansion Damaged—Considerable Glass Broken.

Vincennes, Ind., July 31.—Two men were killed and more than 20 were injured by the explosion of a boiler at the plant of the Vincennes Paper Mills company Monday. The property loss is $15,000.

The dead: Harry Borders, Vincennes, aged 50; single; Late Lichey, aged 35, married.

Charles Connors was the worst injured. He was blown 50 feet through the air. Lichey was the fireman at the plant. All the injured will recover.

The boiler house was destroyed, the boiler being hurled through the roof of the structure and over the main building, 100 feet distant. It tore down a tree and badly damaged the Harrison mansion, which was the home of William Henry Harrison when he was governor of the north-west territory.

Mrs. Edward Shepard, wife of one of the proprietors of the paper mills company, who lives in the mansion, was slightly injured.

The paper mill is a concern employing hundreds of men and women; the largest mill of its kind in this part of the state.

ROOSEVELT IS OUT OF THE RACE

President Will Not Accept Republican Nomination for Third Term.

Peoria, Ill., July 31.—A positive announcement from President Roosevelt that he will not be a candidate for the third term was made Monday in a letter addressed to Mrs. L. A. Kinney, of Peoria, by Secretary William Loeb for President Roosevelt. The text of the letter follows:

"Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 26.—Dear Madam: Your letter of recent date has been received and I thank you in the president's behalf for calling attention to the enclosed clipping. I would say, however, that the president has nothing to add to the statement issued on the night of the election in 1904. His decision as announced at that time is irrevocable.

This expression from President Roosevelt was called forth by an editorial in the Peoria Herald-Transcript which was called to the attention of the president through Mrs. Kinney, wife of a prominent Peoria politician. The editorial was in the form of an appeal to the president to accept the third term.

Slays Former Husband.—Blanchard, La., July 31.—Chas. THE DEMOCRATS

Yesterday afternoon the Rock county democrats met in an informal county convention. A gathering they called it, for the purpose of discussing the placing of a democratic ticket in the field to be voted upon at the September primaries. Evidently the meeting was not sanctioned by the "Only Democratic Paper" in the First Congressional District, for they failed this morning to make even any mention of the gathering or the results. Of course the holding of a convention was against the primary law, so that it is improper to say that a convention was held, but it is certain that the candidates chosen

at the meeting will feel themselves fully authorized to go out and solicit votes and try to defeat the republican nominees. It is too bad the efforts of the gentlemen yesterday afternoon are repudiated by their official mouthpiece by completely ignoring their actions, but the final results will make no difference and the full republican ticket will be elected as usual at the November election just as though they had not met within the "Chancel" of the circuit court room and decided who should run and who should not.

THE STING

The first real sting of the republican state political fight came in Milwaukee when La Follette openly read all who differ with his ideas out of the republican party. The second sting came when State Senator James

McGillivray made his bitter denounce-ment of La Follette as he gracefully withdrew from the gubernatorial fight in favor of James Davidson. Today

La Follette is in Iowa trying to show

Governor Cummins how he can secure renomination at the state convention to be held there tomorrow,

then he will return to Wisconsin, dear

Wisconsin, that is going to the eternal bow wows without his kindly spirit to tell the voters of the state that if they dare to nominate Jim Davidson for Governor on the republican ticket they are not republicans because Irving Lenroot, the Superior

stenographer, is the only true Simon

Pure republican in the state.

NO HARMONY

The Milwaukee Free Press denies that there is any harmony in the republican party. It fails to read any handwriting on the wall or see light

coming out of the east. Blindly following the ideals it was created for stirring up dissension in the republican ranks, it takes a hop with both feet onto the Darlington Democrat, that heard the wings of the dove of peace hovering about its sanctum and wrote a peaceful, inoffensive editorial

on the harmony of the republican party. The Milwaukee Free Press was created to support Robert M. La Follette and nobly has it fulfilled its mission. Even now when it claims that it is taking the middle of the road course in its support of the republican candidates for nomination

until after the primary it has a hard fight with itself not to throw aside

the mask and come out openly in support of Irving Lenroot, the Senator's personal choice for the gubernatorial nomination. This is a state fight in which the conservative element is standing aloof. They are taking no active part. While many believe that Governor Davidson deserves renomination and re-election, they are not worrying unduly over the situation.

The followers of Lenroot are trying to identify the Davidson campaign with a conservative element and a fair representation elected Robert M.

La Follette United States Senator.

The vote was unanimous. Yet the Free Press says that La Follette was elected only after strenuous opposition. This talk of harmony as far as the Free Press is concerned is all bosh. The word "harmony" has been kicked out of the Free Press dictionary

once and for all.

OUT IN IOWA

Governor Cummins of Iowa is in a hard boat and he has sought advice

from his dear friend, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. He has a state convention on his hands which meets tomorrow to place in nomination a republican ticket to be voted upon this fall. Cummins wants to be renominated. He wants to hold the office again the worst way. He has fought a bitter fight to secure delegates and thus far has not counted enough noses to make his renomination assured. There are a lot of contested delegates. The state central committee is sitting in judgment up on them and Governor Cummins has officially notified them that they have no right to make up the roll-call of the coming convention. The committee has replied that they have and then Senator La Follette appears on the scene. What he will advise will be interesting. Two years ago there was a state convention in Wisconsin.

Two years ago there were many contested delegations. Two years ago at the personal dictation of then Governor La Follette the state central committee threw out enough of the opposing contested delegations to give him a safe majority in the state convention that met at the University

Gymnasium. In order to insure that only his delegates were admitted to the hall a gang of burly game wardens, ward-healers, professional wrestlers, ex-football players and deputy sheriffs sworn in for the occasion, guarded the entrance way to the delegates' seats in the hall. Each delegate as he passed through was pushed and shoved or cajoled and bowed to according to his political beliefs.

The gymnasium convention was decided by the state supreme court to be the only true republican convention in the state and their ticket was given the honor of appearing at the head of the republican column. La

Follette manipulated the whole affair

most successfully and in calling him into a conference the Governor of Iowa has called upon the services of an expert and if a convention is to be manipulated La Follette can show

Cummins how to do it.

The Corays have secured their divorce. The world has witnessed the parting of two people owing to the infatuation of the husband for an actrix. A home has been blighted and two children made fatherless by the action of the court. A man prominent in business affairs has practically acknowledged that his paternal and husband love has grown cold with the increase of wealth. It is a sight sad to witness, but becoming so common in the life of the rich that it almost passes without notice. It is an argument for a national divorce law for the protection of the home and of the children.

The old policy of giving a good official a second term is usually the custom in Rock county yet this year several contests are on. One, for the clerk of the court, promises to be most interesting; but the results of the September primary should re-establish the old doctrine of a second term for a good official. The district attorney fight is not so critical as the present incumbent has never really been chosen by the people for the office and is practically making his first run for the position. The results of these two fights, however, will be interesting to note.

That Janesville people want amusement is illustrated by the attendance at the Chautauqua and the baseball games. A good park where picnics could be held and band concerts given would be appreciated if run in a proper manner.

Rock county democrats met and "nominated" a ticket. Now they will sit back and watch for returns, just as they have done for years. Watch the republican majorities roll up.

Out in Iowa Senator La Follette is telling them how to run a state machine and call it the will of the people.

This Proposition Is Now Up

Can we longer afford to overlook the fact that we can secure the very best of dental service at about half the rates we have been paying? Dr. Richards of Janesville, the independent dentist, says he would be delighted to have his work (put out at a modest price) compared with work done by others at possibly double his prices. He affirms that the comparison will establish the fact that:

His work is good in every respect. His work is lasting. His work is done thoroughly. His work is substantial, and, in fact, not excelled by that of any other local dentist.

In addition to the reasonableness of his prices he gives close attention to painless work. Now see what you get by having him do your dental work.

MAILLEY JUMPED ALL CONTRACTS

IS BEING SUED BY MANAGER H. M. HOLBROOK.

DR. J. W. WATSON TO SUPPLY

Is Equal to Occasion—Another Lecture by Sowerby—Parlette, Funny Man, Tomorrow.

Captain James Mailley, the fighting parson, who was scheduled to speak at the Chautauqua Saturday and Sunday afternoons, has cancelled all summer contracts and will not appear here. He had a large number of engagements throughout the country and several with Manager H. M. Holbrook. Mr. Holbrook has brought suit against him for the violation of the written agreement. But a speaker equally as strong and wholly large enough for the place has been secured to fill in the two gaps—Dr. J. W. Watson. He is a Friend or Quaker and comes to Janesville highly commended.

This Evening
For this evening a very attractive program has been arranged. At 7:30 o'clock the Dixies will give a twilight concert, at eight John B. Ratto will lecture on "Uncle Sam's Folks." His offering is an argument that America is the greatest nation on the earth because its people are a mixed people and he coaches his lecture in a series of dialect impersonations. "Bill" Bowen reads tonight.

"Bill" Bowen, Western Poet
This afternoon at two an extra number was given. "Bill" Bowen, far known as the western poet, read a number of his own compositions. They proved exceptionally pleasing. At half past two the Dixie Jubilee singers made their first appearance here this season, rendering a full concert. About a thousand people were present.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1

10:00 a. m.—Morning lecture, "Man's Twofold Nature," Rev. J. H. Sowerby.

2:00 p. m.—Midday concert, The Dixies.

2:30 p. m.—Lecture, "Weighed in the Balance," Ralph Parlette.

4:15 p. m.—Songs of the Southland, The Dixies.

7:30 p. m.—Modern melody, Mme. Buckner and the Dixies.

8:00 p. m.—Lecture, "The Tripod of the American Republic," Rev. J. H. Sowerby.

9:30 p. m.—Moving pictures.

Ralph Parlette, the funny man, appears tomorrow afternoon, with his lecture, "Weighed in the Balance." This is a satire on the strenuous life and humorous, but weighty plea for the symmetrical development of man, hood and womanhood. Parlette is a young man on the platform, but he is rapidly approaching the front as an entertainer and philosopher. Before and after his lecture the Dixies will render short programs. In the evening Rev. J. H. Sowerby delivers a popular lecture on the psychic phenomenon, "Clairvoyance."

Mr. Sowerby is deeply interesting his morning audiences and nothing but a most interesting and educational lecture can be expected. One newspaper says truthfully of him: "There is nothing commonplace or platitudinous in what he gives his audience, in that he gives them, free from sensationalism, thoughts that are both new and practical." Previous to the lecture there will be a concert and a moving picture exhibition will follow.

SOWERBY CONTINUES HIS PSYCHIC PHENOMENA STUDY

Another audience of about two hundred greeted Rev. J. H. Sowerby this morning. The interest in the study is increasing and at the close of his discourse many propounded questions to the speaker and others offered expressions of appreciation. Dr. Sowerby began his lecture today by urging every person to seek for and accept truth no matter where the truth came from. He declared that many good people limit themselves by their relation to their prejudices, desires, early training, etc., but real brave men must be willing to break over those and pay the price if they will attain truth. Referring especially to truth applied to the human spirit he declared the Bible to be the one great depository, and any man who possesses it possesses all the truth regarding spiritual matters. The price of truth is laid down in the Bible: "If any man will come to me let him deny himself, take up his cross and follow me." He then laid down the following as the basis of the study for the week:
Postulate—"Truth is ever in perfect agreement with related truth."
Hypothesis—"The Bible interpreted

ed according to the tenets of evangelical Christianity stands related to the human spirit; the science of psychology, with its teachings regarding the power of mind over matter stands related to the human spirit; then so far as these two sciences being true are so related to the human spirit the teachings of the one must agree with the teachings of the other."

In his discussion of "The Divine Image in Man" he took the ground that Adam in the garden of Eden was possessed of the Chief characters, a physical organism, personality and holiness. He is declared in the Bible to have been made in the image of God, therefore the speaker began an analysis of Adam, declaring that any characteristics which Adam and God possessed in common must constitute the image. "The body is not part of the image. Of personality he said Dr. Strong in his Systematic Theology, gives the following formula:

"Personality.—Self-consciousness and self-determination." He concluded that God and man are both self-conscious and self-determinate, hence both are personalities. Both possess holiness, hence he concluded that the image in man was personality and holiness. In the fall holiness was lost to man, but personality, a divine quality, was retained; hence all men now possess divinity because they possess personality which is the residue of the divine image in Adam. It is to the possession by all men of this divine quality, that all the wonderful psychic phenomena which have been so mysterious may be traced. One other declaration he made was that the retention of this characteristic makes the renewal of the lost holiness possible.

"This," he said in general terms could be done through Jesus Christ. Technically he said he believed it was done on the basis of the atonement. This is, however, a Christian doctrine and eminently a doctrine to be accepted by faith, and science of course cannot accept it. He then laid down a mathematical argument: the presumption of which science can accept. He declared that man now has a physical organism and personality. Jesus had a physical organism, personality and holiness. God has personality and holiness. Hence personality is the common factor which unites man and Jesus and God and if holiness can be restored to man then Jesus is the logical avenue through whom it must take place.

KER-CHEW! KER-CHEW! HAY FEVER ID TOWD

Janesvillians Suffering From Annual Rubber Cold Which Cokes Early.

Kerchew! ! ! ! !
Suffering cats! We've got it! What? Why, the hay fever! Kerchew! ! ! ! !
Contrary to precedent, which has been shattered to smithereens, hay fever, also known as summer asthma, pollen fever, hay-cold, has struck Janesville about one month ahead of time.

Kerchew! ! ! ! !
At least four Janesvillians are suffering from the dreaded disease. One man is stiff as a rod of the verge of swearing at the hay fever. Another is decidedly late in his expressive terms and declares he feels like going up to Chippewa Falls to the Hobe for the Peble Bilde, where the air is clear and the stars look twice as large as here.

Speaking in the language of the "immune," it might be added—inasmuch as the typewriter refuses to write any more hieroglyphic—that the coming of the hay-fever so early as this is unprecedented. "Pathologically," speaking, hay-fever is a catarrhal affection of the mucous membrane of the eyes and the air-passages, characterized (usually) by its annual recurrence at the same period in the same person, manifesting itself first by itching, followed by sneezing and running from the eyes and nose, some fever pain in the head and frontal sinuses, and generally some asthma. Experiments seem to have established the fact that to the pollen of various plants, especially the flowering grasses, is to be attributed the occurrence and annual recurrence of the disease in certain sensitive persons.

BOGARDUS SUES WHITEWATER MEN

CONCERNED IN ALLEGED ARREST LAST WEDNESDAY.

EACH FOR $5,000 DAMAGES

Mayor Paul Pratt, Chief of Police W. B. Holmes, Justice Fryer, and Landlord Reed, the Defendants.

George L. Bogardus and Atty. Charles Pierce visited Whitewater yesterday and served summons and complaints on Mayor Paul Pratt, Justice of the Peace Frank Fryer, Chief of Police William B. Holmes, and Landlord Walter Reed of the Commercial House to appear in circuit court and defend themselves in $5,000 damage actions for alleged complicity in the false arrest of J. C. Bogardus here last Wednesday and alleged complicity in an attempt to obtain money under false pretenses. Landlord Reed is alleged to have made a sworn affidavit to the effect that Bogardus, his former partner, embezzled a sum of money collected on debts due the firm and the justice of the peace is alleged to have made out the complaint at the behest of Mr. Reed's attorney.

The chief of police is said to protest that he did not arrest Mr. Bogardus and to admit that he subsequently destroyed the warrant. The plaintiff's attorney expects to show, however, that even if he did not show the warrant he detained his client and that this action constituted a technical arrest. It is alleged that not only has the warrant disappeared but the docket of the justice also do not show any record of any such proceedings against Bogardus, after having been started. Moreover, after he had accompanied the officer to Whitewater and the books were examined it is claimed that he was tendered $4.11 in settlement instead of being required to turn over any cash to Reed, and that he was released without being discharged by any duly constituted court.

That the Whitewater officials, while in Janesville, attempted to frighten Bogardus into making a settlement, having at the same time no authority to settle a criminal action in this manner had there been any grounds for one, is also alleged. As if to cap the climax in a comedy of errors it is claimed that the act charged against Bogardus, had he been guilty thereof, could not possibly have been regarded as embezzlement as he and Reed were in partnership at the time and that there was therefore no possible authority for a warrant of such nature. All along it is also claimed, Reed has had in his possession the books which are alleged to show that not only was Bogardus not debt- or to him but that the situation was exactly reversed.

She was taken with diphtheria in June and this was followed by her weakness from which she was unable to rally. A brief funeral service was held at the grave on Tuesday afternoon and the body was laid to rest in the Milton Junction cemetery. Lucile was a beautiful and charming girl. Whatever she had to do at home or at school she did it with energy, exemplifying the scripture injunction, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." Intellectually she might ever be said to be somewhat precocious, yet full of the vivacity of an earnest child. She was winning and lady-like in her bearing and manners and of a sweet and sunny disposition. Her bright and charming manners and her readiness to do naturally made her a favorite with teachers, pupils and acquaintances. In any company of children she would easily be singled out by her natural brightness of expression and earnestness of manner. She was a member of the Sabbath school and Junior league of the Milton Junction Methodist church and as a pupil she was ever eager to know and willing to do her part whenever called upon.

CHAPTER XVII.

RYDER'S murder, furnished Antioch with a sensation the like of which he had not known in many a day. It was one long, breathless shudder, ramified with contenting horrors.

Dippy Elsworth remembered that when he drove up in his cart on the night of the tragedy to light the street lamp which stood on the corner by the Herald office, his horse had balked and refused to go near the curb. It was generally conceded that the sagacious brute smelled blood. Dippy himself said he would not sell that horse for $1,000, and it was admitted on all sides that such an animal possessed a value hard to reckon in mere dollars and cents.

Three men recalled that they had passed the Herald office and noticed that the door stood open. Within twenty-four hours they were hearing groans and within a week cries for help, but they were not encouraged.

Of course the real hero was Bob Bennett, Ryder's assistant, who had discovered the body when he went back to the office at half past 8 to close the forms. His account of the finding of Ryder dead on the floor was an exceedingly grizzly narrative, delightfully conducive of the shivers. He had been the quietest of youths, but two weeks after the murder he left for Chicago. He said there might be those who could stand it, but Antioch was too slow for him.

Not less remarkable was Ryder's posthumous fame. Men who had never known him in life now spoke of him with trembling voices and every outward evidence of the sincerest sorrow. It was as if they had sustained a personal loss, for his championship of the strike had given him a great popularity, and his murder, growing out of this championship, as all preferred to believe, made his death seem a species of martyrdom.

Indeed, the mere fact that he had been murdered would have been sufficient to make him popular at any time. He had supplied Antioch with a glorious sensation. It was something to talk over and discuss and shudder at, and the town was grateful and happy with the deep, calm joy of a perfect emotion.

It determined to give him a funeral which should be creditable alike to the cause for which he had died and to the manner of his death.

Meanwhile, Dan had been arrested, examined and set at liberty again in the face of the prevailing sentiment that he should be held. No one doubted—he himself least of all—that Roger Oakley had killed Ryder. Bob Bennett recalled their meeting as he left the office to go home for supper on the night of the murder, and a red and yellow bandanna handkerchief was found under the table, which Dan identified as having belonged to his father.

Kenyon came to Antioch and made his re-election almost certain by the offer of a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer. This stimulated a wonderful measure of activity. Parties of men and boys were soon scouring the woods and fields in quest of the old convict.

The day preceding that of the funeral a dusty countryman on a hard ridden plow horse dashed into town with the news that a man who answered perfectly to the description of Roger Oakley had been seen the night before twenty-six miles north of Antioch, at a place called Barrow's Sawmills, where he had stopped at a store and made a number of purchases. Then he had struck off through the woods. It was also learned that he had eaten his breakfast the morning after the murder at a farmhouse midway between Antioch and Barrow's Sawmills. The farmer's wife had at his request put up a lunch for him. Later in the day a man at work in a field had seen and spoken with him.

There was neither railroad, telegraph nor telephone at Barrow's Sawmills, and the fugitive had evidently considered it safe to venture into the place, trusting that he was ahead of the news of his crime. It was on the edge of a sparsely settled district, and to the north of it was the unbroken wilderness stretching away to the lakes and the Wisconsin line.

The morning of the funeral an extra edition of the Herald was issued, which contained a glowing account of Ryder's life and achievements. It was an open secret that it was from the gifted pen of Kenyon. This notable enterprise was one of the wonders of the day. Everybody wanted a Herald as a souvenir of the occasion, and nearly 500 copies were sold.

All that morning the country people, unheeded of numbers flocked into town. As Clarence remarked to Spide, it was just like a circus day. The noon train from Buckhorn Junction arrived crowded to the doors, as did the 1 o'clock train from Harrison. Antioch had never known anything like it.

The funeral was at 2 o'clock from the little white frame Methodist church, but long before the appointed hour it was crowded to the verge of suffocation, and the anxious, waiting throng overpowered the yard and street with never a hope of wedging into the building, much less securing seats.

A delegation of the strikers, the Young Men's Kenyon club, of which Ryder was a member, and a representative body of citizens escorted the remains to the church. These were the people he had feared at whose simple joys he had ridiculed and whose griefs he had made light of, but they would gladly have forgiven him his sarcasms even had they known of them. He had become a hero and a martyr.

Chris Berry and Cap Roberts were in charge of the arrangements. On the night of the murder the former had beaten his rival to the Herald office by exactly three minutes and had never left Ryder until he lay in the most costly casket in his shop.

It was admitted afterward by thoughtful men who were accustomed to weigh their opinions carefully, that Mr. Williamson, the minister, had never delivered so moving an address or one that contained so obvious a moral. The drift of his remarks was that the death of his brilliant and distinguished fellow townsman should serve as a warning to all that there was no time like the present in which to prepare for the life everlasting. He assured his audience that each hour of existence should be devoted to consecration and silent testimony, otherwise, what did it avail? It was not enough that Ryder had thrown the weight of his personal influence and exceptional talents on the side of sound morality and civic usefulness. And as he soared on from point to point his hearers soared with him, and when he rounded in on each well tried climax they rounded in with him. He never failed them once. They always knew what he was going to say before it was said and were ready for the thrill when the thrill was due. It might have seemed that Mr. Williamson was paid a salary merely to make an uncertain heretofore yet more uncomfortable and uncertain, but Antioch took his religion hot, with a shiver and a threat of blue flame.

When Mr. Williamson sat down Mr. Kenyon rose. As a layman he could be entirely eulogistic. He was sure of the faith which through life had been the guiding star of the departed. He had seen it instanced by numerous acts of unflinchingly Christian benevolence, and on those rare occasions when he had spoken of his hopes and fears he had, in spite of his shrinking modesty, shown that his standards of Christian duty were both lofty and consistent.

Here the Hon. Job Barrows, who had been dozing peacefully, awoke with a start and gazed with wide, bulging eyes at the speaker. He followed Mr. Kenyon, and though he tried hard, he could not recall any expression of Ryder's at the time of his death, which indicated that there was any spiritual uplift to his nature, which he fed at secret altars, so he pictured the friend and citizen, and the dead, faded well at his hands, perhaps better than he was conscious of, for he said no more than he believed.

Then came the prayer and hymn, to be succeeded by a heavy, solemn pause, and Mr. Williamson stepped to the front of the platform.

"All those who care to view the remains and I presume there are many here who will wish to look upon the face of our dead friend before it is conveyed to its final resting place, will please form in line at the rear of the edifice and advance quietly up the right aisle, passing across the church as quickly as possible and thence down the left aisle and on out through the door. This will prevent confusion and make it much pleasanter to all."

There was a rustle of skirts and the awkward shuffling of many feet as the congregation formed in line, then it filed slowly up the aisle to where Chris Berry stood, weakened and dry, with a yulture look on his face and a yulture touch to his hands that now and again picked at the flowers which were banked about the coffin.

"The Emorys, partly out of regard for public sentiment, had attended the funeral, for, as the doctor said, they were the only real friends left in the town. They had known and liked him when the rest of Antioch was dubiously critical of the newcomer, whose ways were not its ways."

When the congregation thronged up the aisle, Constance, who had endured the long service, which to her was unspeakably grotesque and horrible, in shocked if silent rebellion slipped her hand into her mother's. "Take me away!" she whispered brokenly, "or I shall cry out! Take me away!"

Mrs. Emory hesitated. It seemed a desertion of a trust to go and leave Griffith to these strangers, who had been brought there by morbid curiosity. Constance guessed what was passing in her mind.

"Papa will remain if it is necessary," Mrs. Emory touched the doctor on the shoulder. "We're going home, John; Constance doesn't feel well, but you stay."

When they reached the street the last vestige of Constance's self-control vanished utterly. "Wasn't it awful!" she sobbed. "And his life had only just begun! And to be snuffed out like this, when there was everything to live for!"

Mrs. Emory, surprised at the sudden show of feeling, looked into her daughter's face. Constance understood the look.

"No, no! He was only a friend! He could never have been more than that. Poor, poor Griffith!"

"I am glad for your sake, dearie," said Mrs. Emory gently.

"I wasn't very kind to him at the last, but I couldn't know—I couldn't know," she moaned.

She was not much given to these confidences even with her mother. Usually she never questioned the wisdom or righteousness of her own acts, and it was not her habit to put them to the test of a less generous judgment, but she was remembering her last meeting with Ryder. He had told her that he loved her, and she had flared up, furious and resentful, with the dull, accusing ache of many days in her heart and a cruel readiness to make him suffer. She had tried to convince herself afterward that it was only his vanity that was hurt.

Then she thought of Oakley. She had been thinking of him all day, wondering where he was, if he had left Antioch, and not daring to ask. They were going up the path now toward the house, and she turned to her mother again.

"What do they say of Mr. Oakley—I mean Mr. Dan Oakley? I don't know why, but I'm more sorry for him than I am for Griffith. He has so much to bear!"

"I heard your father say he was still here. I suppose he has to remain. He can't choose."

"What will be done with his father if he is captured? Will they—?" She could not bring herself to finish the sentence.

"Goodness knows! I wouldn't worry about him," said Mrs. Emory in a tone of considerable asperity. "He made all the trouble, and I haven't a particle of patience with him!"

Medical Shows.

"I had a sort of odd experience yesterday," said a Denver barber the other morning, as he shaved a customer, says the Denver Post. "A man came in here for a shave. He got in my chair, and I began scraping him. I have a peculiar way of taking short pulls at my razor on a customer's cheeks, and I was doing it on him when I heard a tune that sounded like 'Yankee Doodle.' Then I discovered that the man, assisted by me, was playing the time. By increasing and decreasing the space in his mouth he caused my razor to make hollow sounds while scraping over his face. We finished 'Yankee Doodle,' and then we played 'Back Back Back to Baltimore' and 'Dixie.' When I finished shaving him he smiled and said:

"If I ever need a partner I'll look you up."

"Partner in what business?" I asked. He handed me his card. "He was Ferry Corvey, the musical clown."

Paid For Attending Church.

Peter Paulson of Cashton, Wis., must drive ten miles to church every Sunday for fifteen years or lose an inheritance of $1,500 left him by his mother, Mrs. Mary J. Paulson, says a St. Paul (Minn.) dispatch to the Chicago Tribune. The case involving the construction of the woman's will was argued before the circuit court at Lacrosse last year and was appealed to the supreme court. It has been decided by the latter court, upholding the decision of the lower court. Mrs. Paulson gave her son $100 a year for fifteen years, on condition that he attend a certain church all that time, unless sick or prevented by other unavoidable occurrence.

The Greatest Tea Drinkers.

The greatest tea drinkers in the world are the Australians, they annually consuming seven and three-fourths pounds per head. In England the proportion is about six and three-fourths pounds per head and in the United States only one pound two ounces.

Might Be Too Late.

The late Dr. Boardman used to relate this on himself. "I preached a funeral sermon at one time, and spoke longer than was my custom."

The undertaker was a man of nervous temperament, and as the afternoon was going, he began to be anxious to be on the way to the cemetery. "He finally whispered to one of my members, 'Does your minister always preach as long as that at a funeral?'"

"Well," said the brother, "that is a good sermon."

"Yes," said the undertaker, "the sermon is all right, and I believe in the resurrection, but I'm afraid if he does not stop pretty soon I will not get this man buried in time."

There was a rustle of skirts and the awkward shuffling of many feet as the congregation formed in line, then it filed slowly up the aisle to where Chris Berry stood, weakened and dry, with a yulture look on his face and a yulture touch to his hands that now and again picked at the flowers which were banked about the coffin.

SEASHELLS IN COLORADO.

Huge Ours, Millions in Number, Are Found in Irrigation Tunnel.

Seashells more than three feet in diameter and weighing in many instances fully 100 pounds are delaying the construction of an irrigating tunnel by the government near Gunnison, Colo., says a Washington correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

The tunnel is being forced through millions of shells, which geological and biological experts declare, were once the homes of mollusks, each of a size large enough to feed a dozen men of present day size. The shells, according to the views of the geologists who have charge of the work, are millions of years old and were deposited there at the time when the ocean covered that part of Colorado, but which receding left only the great salt lake of Utah and the shells as a reminder of the fact that the arid and semiarid lands of the southwest were once the bed of the ocean.

Masterpieces on Asylum Walls.

There was a man named Dodd, some of whose pictures I expect will be exhibited in a short time in London. He showed extraordinary power, and if he had not become insane he would have rivaled, if not outdistanced Watts. He only recently died at the criminal lunatic asylum at Broadmoor. He painted many pictures, a number of which were sold, but it was thought by the government that it was improper that these pictures should be sold in open market, and the superintendent of Broadmoor therefore allowed him to paint the walls, which he continued to do in an elaborate way. From Guy's Hospital record, City of London.

STEEL KING'S WIFE IS GIVEN DIVORCE

MRS. COREY SECURES DECREE IN NEVADA COURT.

AWARDS SON TO MOTHER

Sister of Defendant Testifies That Wealthy New York Men are Unfit to Care for Boys of Tender Age.

Reno, Nev., July 31.—Mrs. William Ellis Corey, wife of the president of the United States Steel corporation, was awarded a divorce in the Second district court of Nevada, sitting at Reno Monday afternoon. The case was submitted without argument and the jury took but one ballot. It was out but a few minutes.

Mrs. Corey was in tears when told that she had been given a decree and the custody of her 18-year-old son, Allan Corey. She drove at once to her home on Riverside avenue, where she says she will continue to reside. No evidence was submitted by the defense and there was no argument.

The question of alimony was not introduced. Mrs. Corey made an interesting admission, however, touching upon this phase of the case, stating that in May, 1906, several weeks before her petition for divorce was filed, she negotiated through her attorneys a financial settlement with her husband. She was not asked what the nature of this settlement was.

Tell of Separation.

"I am a resident of Reno, Nevada," said Mrs. Corey, when placed on the stand, "and the wife of William Ellis Corey, the defendant in this action. We were married on December 1, 1883, at Pittsburgh, Pa., and lived together until May 1, 1905. At that time my husband deserted me and went to New York. I followed him and held a conversation with him in the Hotel Lorraine. It was there that he told me that he had decided to live apart. He said that it was impossible for us to live happily together and that I would never see him again."

"He stated that he intended going to Europe for several months. There was no scene. I talked with him about the matter and urged him to again resume his place in our home, but he refused. I have never seen him since."

Miss Addie Corey, sister of the respondent, was an interesting witness. She corroborated Mrs. Corey's statement that Corey had deserted his wife and told how she and her aged mother had made several ineffectual attempts to effect a reconciliation.

Her brother, she said, had lost sight of his home, being absorbed in business and infatuated with the fast life of New York.

Unfit to Care for Son.

"Do you consider Mr. Corey a proper custodian for his son?" she was asked.

"I do not for the reason that he is not a proper person for his son to associate with. He has no home, and his associates are not fit companions for a young man of Allan's age. I do not think any New York man is fit to have charge of a boy of his age."

"Do you mean all New York men, Miss Corey?" continued the attorney.

"I mean wealthy New York men," Allan Corey stated that at the time of the parting his father called him to his office and told him that he had decided to part from his mother. "He said I was too young to understand the reasons. He then said that my mother was a good woman and that my place was at her side."

Several witnesses were introduced to establish the residence in Nevada of the plaintiff, all being citizens of Reno.

At the conclusion of the trial Attorney Sardis Summerfield, of Reno, stated that his client, William E. Corey, was as anxious for the decree of divorce as his wife. "If the decree is granted," he said, "Mr. Corey will be entirely satisfied. He has consented to the divorce. This understanding between Mr. Corey and the attorneys of Mrs. Corey was reached some time ago."

Former Mayor of Paterson, N. J., Surrenders to Jail Warden.

Belcher was forced by poverty to give himself up. He had been in New York for several days. "He said he had no means with which to make restitution of the funds he is alleged to have obtained before he fled from the city, and would answer the charges against him."

FRISCO FIRE FROM THE BAY.

Terrifying Spectacle as Seen From an Escaping Vessel.

The steamer Itauri, bound for Hamburg, Germany, recently put in at Port Los Angeles and is the first vessel to bring by water route those who witnessed the destruction of San Francisco, says the Kansas City Star. "The Itauri left San Francisco Thursday afternoon (April 19), when the flames seemed to be at their highest," said First Mate Charles Appen in his description of the catastrophe. "As seen from the bay it was a sublime but terrible spectacle. We were anchored more than a mile out in the roadstead, but the wind as it swept over the burning city and down upon us was like the breath of a demon. At times it was impossible for us to remain on deck. The water of the bay became heated. The terrific concussion of dynamite and the firing of artillery along the water front by the soldiery in their attempts to stop the flames brought hundreds of fish to the surface. Our clearance papers were burned, but we could not retain our anchorage, and late Thursday afternoon we started toward the open sea."

"What's along the water front which had not been consumed were filled with people. They beckoned to us that they needed assistance. We could see them holding up their hands in the attitude of prayer. It was the thought of self preservation for us all that kept the Itauri's course unchanged. As we passed through the Golden Gate the hills on each side were mountains of flame. In many places the earth spots showed where the buildings had been already consumed, but these were few. "It was dusk when we passed out of the harbor. The waves, instead of scintillating with the rays of the setting sun, burned scarlet first to the right and then to the left. At midnight we were well out to sea—I should say thirty miles. The flames were still visible, and until almost the dawn of another day we stood on deck and watched the reflection of the flames as they played to and fro on the cloud mountains which hung as a pall over the ruined city."

Remarkable Foresight.

An officer at the war department recently recalled the fact that two years ago this April the authorities of the war department and the municipal authorities of San Francisco took precautions to meet just such a situation as exists in San Francisco today, says the Washington Star. In February, 1904, Mr. McCarthy, secretary of the board of fire commissioners of San Francisco, inquired of the department commander of that city if the city of San Francisco could depend on the military authorities for the use of explosives in case it should be necessary to remove buildings and structures during a conflagration in the city. General MacArthur, who was in command at San Francisco at the time, replied that the military authorities would willingly cooperate in the manner suggested, and it was recommended to meet the situation that a magazine for the storage of high explosives be located on the military reservation at the Presidio of San Francisco, the expense of the building to be borne by the city and the establishment to be under the control of the military. The recommendation was approved by General Crozier, chief of ordnance, and other officers affected, and the necessary orders were issued by the chief of staff.

One of San Francisco's Heroes.

Many heroes of both sexes will come out of the hell of shock and fire in San Francisco, says the New York Sun, and not the least of them will be the man on guard with a battered engine at O'Farrell street and Van Ness avenue, who, being asked what he proposed to do when the flames were racing toward him, replied: "We are waiting for it to come. When it gets here we will make one more stand. If it crosses Van Ness avenue the city is gone."

No Bricks For Building Fronts.

A curious aesthetic regulation occurs in the new building ordinances of the city of Darmstadt, Germany, promulgated during the past year, says the Engineering News. This clause forbids the use of "artificial building materials" on the fronts of buildings on prominent streets. Brick is included in this category of artificial building materials.

SELECTED SPEAKER FOR THE OCCASION

Labor Day Celebration in Beloit Promises to Be Very Interesting.

The Rev. Carl D. Thompson of Milwaukee and Judge L. E. Bancroft of Richland Center, Wis., will be the principal speakers in the Tri-City Labor day celebration in Beloit Sept. 3. Both have accepted the invitation sent by the local committee and the announcement has been sent to both Rockford and Freeport, which cities will join with Beloit in the observance of the day.

Rev. Thompson is pastor of a Congregational church in Milwaukee and is well known in this part of the state because of his pronounced attitude in favor of trades unionism. The Rev. Thompson will speak on "Local Labor Conditions" and from the subject the observer would be led to believe that he will describe the conditions at present existing in Beloit and the improvement that has been manifest in the past few years.

Judge Bancroft was a former assistant attorney general of Wisconsin and in that capacity had ample opportunity to observe the condition and movements of labor in Wisconsin. Judge Bancroft has chosen as his topic "The General Labor Movement" and prospective visitors are assured that they will hear a talk abounding in practical suggestions.

The principal exercises of the day, including the speaking, will be held at the City park in the afternoon. Music will be furnished by the Henry-Globe band of Freeport and other musical organizations and a league baseball exhibition between the Freeport and Green Bay teams will take place at the college grounds in the afternoon. Two games will be played by the teams and spectators will have the privilege of witnessing the double exhibition for one price of admission.

Both Rockford and Freeport expect to send large crowds. The Rockford and Freeport Interurban Co. has made arrangements to accommodate large crowds from both cities and a number of the interurban cars will be taken to Freeport on the night before Labor day in order to be prepared for service at an early hour the next morning.
